Proposed Response

Dear Sir/Madam,

Thank you very much for reaching out to us regarding GSA representation services for Japan Airlines across European markets. We are truly honored by your interest and excited about the prospect of supporting such a prestigious airline — and recent SKYTRAX 'World Class 2024' award recipient — in its European expansion strategy.

We have extensive experience providing comprehensive General Sales Agent services for leading international carriers across multiple European markets, and we believe our capabilities align exceptionally well with JAL's requirements. Allow me to outline how we can support your operations:

Ticketing & Revenue Support: We offer full-service ticketing operations, including GDS management, fare filing support, and interline/codeshare coordination, ensuring seamless distribution across all major European points of sale.

B2B Sales Development: Our dedicated sales teams across key European markets — including Germany, France, and the United Kingdom, where you currently operate your 21 weekly frequencies — are well-positioned to strengthen relationships with travel agencies, TMCs, corporate accounts, and consolidators. We focus on driving incremental revenue through targeted trade engagement and account management.

Marketing Campaigns: We design and execute tailored marketing initiatives including trade promotions, co-op campaigns with trade partners, digital marketing, press and media outreach, and participation in key industry trade shows such as ITB Berlin, Top Resa, and World Travel Market London.

Market Intelligence: We provide regular market analysis and competitive intelligence reporting to help inform JAL's commercial strategy across European markets.

Given Japan Airlines' strong brand positioning, award-winning product, and the significant growth potential in the premium leisure and business travel segments between Japan and Europe, we see a compelling opportunity to build a robust commercial partnership.

I would welcome the opportunity to schedule a call or video conference at your earliest convenience to discuss your specific requirements in greater detail. We would be happy to prepare a tailored proposal including market-by-market coverage, team structure, KPIs, and commercial terms.

Please let me know your availability, and I will coordinate accordingly.

Warm regards,

Business Development Team
